BOOSTER PARADE THURSDAY

Student Procession To Be Led by Band; Best Float Pictured In Kaimin

"Let's show Missoula we're 1,111 strong behind our Grizzlies, and turn out for the booster parade," urged ASMSU President Jane Jeffers, Ennis.

Next Thursday at 4:55 Main Hall bell will summon MSU students to the oval to form for a parade through downtown Missoula.

Purpose of the parade, which leaves the campus at 5 o'clock sharp, is to advertise the first annual Montana Invitational Basketball Tournament to Christmas shoppers in the downtown streets.

Cheerleaders and traditions board officers in charge of the parade ask for complete cooperation, in order that the size of the turnout will compare with that of prewar days, when over one thousand students would parade down Missoula's streets to bring university activities before the eyes of the public.

Feature of the parade will be a float contest, with the best decorated car or truck being pictured in the Kaimin. Fraternities, sororities, dormitories, clubs, independents and individuals are urged to enter. Signs should be on the theme that MSU is bringing big time basketball to Missoula for the first time since before the war. Judges for the contest will be stationed at downtown intersections. Judges will be Bob Switzer, president of Interfrat Council; Lil Martin, president of Pan-Hellenic; Chippo Golder, yell king; Jane Jeffers, ASMSU president, and Janet Reinertson, Maverick president.

The Grizzly band will lead the procession, and those not having cars may ride in trucks which will be furnished. The parade will follow the University bus line to the corner of Higgins and Broadway, where a program of yells and band music will take place at the expense of halted traffic. After announcement of the contest winner, cars will return to the campus.

Cheerleader Tryouts Are Announced

Attention!!!

Tryouts for cheerleaders will be held Tuesday at 7:30 in the Bitter-root Room of the Student Union. Anyone interested is urged to come, and no experience is required to try out.

Here is a chance for one of you energetic students to lead the crowd and earn a sweater.

Board Appointed To Immortalize MSU

Appointment of a board to direct preparation of a history of MSU's first 50 years has been announced by Pres. James A. McCain.

Members of the board chosen by Mr. McCain are J. B. Speer, university business manager; T. C. Spaulding, veteran professor in the forestry school, and Miss Catherine White, reference librarian.

The history, when completed, will be published and provision will be made for continuing it. Brochures, bulletins and other materials for publication will be extracted when needed.

Where Is My Exam? Bulletins Tell You, Son

Attention is called to the examination schedules posted by the registrar's office on university bulletin boards. Students should consult these schedules to determine time and place of their final examinations.

The following changes have been made in the posted schedule: Spanish 123 will be given Monday in Science Hall from 10:10 to 12:10 instead of Thursday.

Kaimin Flags Unadaptable; Dough Split

None of the three entries turned into the Kaimin editor's office for the flag contest, which closed Dec. 4 are adaptable for use as the future Kaimin flag, judges Joan Engelking, Aden Arnold and Ed Dugan decided Monday afternoon.

The prize of $15 will be divided three ways among contestants Lloyd Hunter, Helena, Dick Graham, Butte, and Gene Kramer, Missoula, who will each receive $5 some time next week.

A fourth entry was received from the Marine air station at Cherry Point, N. C., which was ineligible, not having been submitted by a student.

Members of the Kaimin staff extend their thanks and appreciation to the three contestants.

Free Lancer To Interpret News on KGVO

George Caraker, east and west coast lecturer, will be heard over radio station KGVO interpreting the news each Sunday at 5:15 p.m.

Former news commentator for the National Broadcasting and the Associated Broadcasters in San Francisco, his voice interpreting the news has also been heard through government short wave stations in Mexico, the entire Latin American continent, the South and Central Pacific, the East Coast in Europe, the Middle East and Africa.

A world traveler and lecturer, Caraker recently returned from the battlefields of Europe and the United Kingdom and has published several articles.

Caraker plans to open his series of commentaries with reference to a recent student discussion on the atomic bomb and world government.

Big Wheels Shaping Tourney

Plans for the forthcoming first annual Montana Invitational College Basketball Tournament were discussed at a meeting attended by 11 key promoters of the event last night in the Student Union. Hugh Edwards, in charge of the event, conducted the meeting.

Tentative plans for halftime entertainment were outlined by June Sanders Burns and Janet Reinertson of Traditions Committee. Peg Hanley represented Spur and Clarence Bell told of the band's part in the event.

At present the entertainment shapes up this way: The tournament will open with the playing of the four participating school's songs by a trumpet trio as Spurs form the initial of the school whose song is being played. At the first half-time Friday night a miniature prizefight is scheduled, to be staged by Joe Gibney and several of his young charges. For the second half-time a pro-

MSU Possible Air Force Gizmo

Possibility that an Army Air Forces' reserve officers' training program may be installed at MSU has arisen, President James A. McCain announced last week.

In a letter to Mr. McCain, Lt. Col. Bryson R. Bailey, San Francisco, reported that a survey by air force officers in September "shows conclusively that Montana State University is highly suitable." The survey team of officers, Colonel Bailey said, "reported on the excellence of your university without reservation."

Survey of all United States colleges and universities was completed in October and area offices were established to maintain liaison between the Army Air Forces and the educational institutions. Colonel Bailey is area chief for the ninth area, with headquarters in San Francisco.

The air forces' ROTC program, Colonel Bailey's letter indicated, has been proposed but may not yet be fully developed. Mr. McCain said he had written immediately to determine how the university can come under the program.

McCain Airs Views On University Accrediting

"We will not permit the university to lose its accredited standing and we won't stop till Montana is fully accredited with the American Association of Universities," stated President McCain in convocation Friday.

Urging students on vacation to "act as delegates" by informing people in homes all over the state about the status of the university, the president also spoke briefly of veterans' housing on the campus, the athletic situation and possible correction of Montana's low college attendance.

"The accrediting of a university is not an 'either-or' proposition," he emphasized in attempting to clarify a misunderstanding which he had observed among MSU alumni and other people in his tour of the state.

"We are not content merely to 'get respectable' but will try to bring the schools and departments higher on the accredited list. Five out of the seven professional schools and 16 out of 17 departments in the university are accredited.

"Chemistry, the one unlisted department, has a faculty of highest quality but it needs more faculty members. A greater percentage from Montana's Department of

Put It To a Vote

As we expected we were not long in waiting for opposition to our proposal that freshmen be given representation on Central Board. People who wish to maintain the status quo are against it. Some of these people now hold high student offices. They point out that freshmen are not sufficiently informed on the high and mighty doings of the board to vote intelligently. That they don't know enough about MSU during their freshmen year to help in carrying on the business of the Associated Students. Others simply point out, in the best MSU student body tradition, that "it's never been done before."

We pooh pooh all of these arguments. Let us take the first one, for instance. It takes no braintruster to vote intelligently on Central Board. If it does then the affairs of the board have been in the hands of incompetents for a long time. All you have to do to realize this truth is to attend a meeting of the board and see what goes on there. You will observe that a good number of the representatives don't know any more about the things they are asked to vote upon than the greenest freshman. Any frosh could do the job as well, especially now that we have so many people in the freshman class who are more mature than the stereotype frosh of other days.

As for the thing never having been done before: That's no argument at all. It's high time that a lot of things be done here that have never been done before. This move to give the frosh representation is a very minor one indeed.

Certainly the question is worthy of a vote by the student body. If the great mass of voters does not want this change they will say it with votes. If they do want it then it's time they got it.

One of the things so often overlooked by those who would maintain things as they are is the fact that the present ASMSU constitution was put together some years ago. It does not always provide for present needs. It did not foresee that a good number of the freshmen class would be made up of people who are fully qualified to run the business of ASMSU.

Let's get off our high horses and look at this question in its true light. Let's demand that Central Board put the idea into a proposed amendment to be voted on in the spring. Let's not forget that freshmen make up over one-half of our student body. They deserve a vote on Central Board.

"So send me far from Lombard Street
And mark me down a failure
Put a little money in my purse
And let me go—
... I am one of you no longer
Be it so." Robert W. Service

At this writing I am not sure that I shall return to MSU next quarter. Present plans call for a trip to my home in Virginia for a complete rest. The strain of editing your paper this quarter has in some way made inroads on my health.

I fear that my efforts are being wasted on closed minds here. I do not believe that students at this university care enough about their paper to warrant the expenditure of energy that my small staff and I give to it. Whether or not I continue as editor of this paper is for you to say. I am hereby announcing my refusal to continue another quarter under the present strain.

If no relief is forthcoming by the beginning of winter quarter then you may consider this as my resignation.

BOB BLAIR.

McCain

Chemistry belong to the Academy of Science than do Stanford graduates."

Forestry and Business Administration, the two unaccredited schools, suffer from the lack of sufficient classroom space and a short faculty membership, McCain explained. Application for AAU accrediting has already been submitted by the School of Forestry and it is believed that the school will be placed on the list in three or four months. Also the appropriation of an additional $2,500 per year for employment of two more teachers should help the situation in both schools, he reported.

"I have a 'pious hope' that we will get more buildings on the campus," he asserted.

"Money for the three new buildings that we want most may be available in a few months. We really need five new buildings."

"Two things concern me about our athletic situation: That we are getting licked and that we never get to see the games," continued the president.

"Next year we will see four home games with Big Seven Conference teams. If we play close or break even, the situation will look up. We must get big crowds from all over the state to attend these games."

"Since Montana ranks 24th in the percentage of her youth attending college and since over 25 per cent of that leave the state to attend school, the university will expand its program of financially aiding the young people of its state in obtaining their education, he promised.

"We hope to expand the services of the institution to the cultural enrichment of the state. In this way we will try to overcome this out-of-state attitude."

No later than the middle of spring quarter the university will have 75 houses for veterans. Though the accommodations will not be enough, they will be a good start in the program. If the school can arrange to cut down the rental costs on these buildings, it will do so, he reported.

Walt King, chairman of convocations, introduced Neil Dahlstrom, who sang "Morning" and "Let My Song Fill Your Heart."

The Dean of Women announced yesterday that women attending the Inaugural Ball will be given 12:30 permission. The ball is being held Thursday night.

Christmas Carols Highlight SOS Tomorrow Night

Students, come out
On Wednesday night for Singing on the steps.

The large tree in front of Main Hall will be lighted. Earl Dahlstrom and Marilyn Biffle will sing solos and the Kappa trio, composed of Jean Hough, Tannis Brown and Helen Sugrue will provide some close harmony. The time is 7:30—see you then.

Poetry Recital

The final poetry recital for the fall term will be given in Library 103, Tuesday evening at 8, by Professors John Moore and Baxter Hathaway. The program for this final recital will consist of readings from T. S. Eliot, who is probably the most influential poet of our time. The program will include such well-known works as "The Love Song of J. Alfred Prufrock," "Gerontion," "The Sweeney Poems" and "The Hollow Men."

Wheels Shape

gram of songs by MSU students will be presented.

For the half-time entertainment on Saturday night a German band will give out during the first intermission. Arrangements are under way to have the a capella choir sing several Christmas carols and songs during the second half-time.

Students will be admitted to the games on their ASMSU activity tickets. Anne Reese, in charge of tickets, urges all students attending to bring their activity tickets to all games. The wives of student veterans will be admitted on purchase of a regular general admission ticket. They are asked to sit in the regular student section. General admission tickets are being sold for 60 cents.

A dance, to which the members of all teams have been invited, is being held Saturday night after the last game.

Jane Jeffers, ASMSU president, attending last night's meeting said she hoped that the student body would turn out for all games. She pointed out that the university is attempting to make this tournament an annual affair which will bring much favorable publicity to the university.

Cheerleading will be handled by Chippo Golder and Audrey Eder. It was not known last night whether or not cheerleader Les Margetts would be able to take part.

Sentinel Staff Gets T' Hackin' On Yearbook

Emphasizing MSU's colors of copper, silver and gold, especially, the Sentinel editor and staff have started putting the 1946 golden anniversary yearbook together.

The staff has a contract with the Artcraft Engraving and Electrotype Company in Seattle for 28 engraved colored pages. The Great Falls Tribune Printing and Supply Company will print and lithograph the Sentinel. The gold covers are from the Universal Book Bindery in San Antonio, Texas.

The Sentinel advertising staff has sold 33 and one-third per cent more ads so far this year than last.

The student body is invited by the Montana State Board of Education to attend the inauguration of President James A. McCain, Monday evening at 8:15 in the Student Union.

Mountaineer One Day Late

First copies of the fall Mountaineer to come off the press will be distributed in the student store late this afternoon to students free.

Printing delays held up the appearance of the magazine, the campus literary publication, one day from the announced distribution day of Monday.

Copies will also be distributed all day Wednesday, and Thursday afternoon in the store. Students need not show their ASMSU cards to receive their free copies.

Bound in grey and red, the fall issue contains stories, articles and poetry, the work of Tommie-Lou Rush, Helen Brutsch, Marjorie Powell, Marjorie Karlin, Walt King, Agnes Regan, Flora Sagen, Sergeant David Perkins and Ruth E. Anderson.

AUTUMN QUARTER GRADES

All students should leave handbooks at the Registrar's Office so that autumn quarter grades can be put in them. Students not returning for the winter quarter should also leave a self-addressed envelope containing six cents postage so that their handbook containing grades can be mailed to them.

E. G. Marble, Registrar.

Wright's Weasels Turn Ermine

Dr. Wright's famous weasels, at home in the Natural Science Building, are now in the process of becoming ermine.

Devoting much of his time and energy in caring for and experimenting with the 30 little animals, Dr. Wright, assistant professor of zoology, says they consume 35 pounds of meat weekly.

Wright is the first human to witness the color change of the Least Weasel. He has one of these rare animals in his collection.

MSU Host at Four-Team Tourney

HUDDLE STEAM

BY DON WESTON

Idaho is the tournament terror this week. The Vandals enter the invitational tourney with an undefeated early season record of five straight games.

Coach Babe Brown's Idaho lads are making the two-night stand as part of a seven-game barnstorming warmup for conference play which the Vandals begin Jan. 4 against Oregon State.

The Idaho squad boasts nine let-terms, two of them two-year repeaters. Coach Brown will carry a traveling squad of 15 men, including 6-foot-3-inch Fred Quinn, who set a Pacific Coast Conference scoring record in 1943.

Last Saturday Idaho really let loose on Gonzaga; with the regulars playing only five minutes, the Vandals left the final count standing at 67 to 38.

Of course Montana hasn't played a conference basketball schedule since 1938, but we still bask in the glory of being a member of the Pacific Coast Conference. Just what good that does MSU, however, I fail to see.

Another Grizzly foe, though not playing in the tournament, Farragut, also has an unblemished record this season. The Navy quintette has been running roughshod over its foes. Credit for this goes to the former All-American, Ken Sailors, 1940-43 star of the Wyom-

Alum Appointed To Cancer Research Institute

Dr. Philip R. White '22 has resigned after 13 years association with the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, to accept an appointment at the Institute for Cancer Research and the Lankenau Hospital Research Institute in Philadelphia. There he will organize and direct a division of general physiology and tissue culture dealing with problems in tumor growth.

Recipient of the American Association for the Advancement of Science Prize in 1937, and the Stephen Hales Award of the American Society of Plant Physiologists in 1940, Dr. White was one of the organizers and a member of the editorial staff of the journal "Growth" since its establishment in 1936, a charter member of the international "Society for Study of Growth and Development," and author of the only English language book on plant tissue culture. He is widely known for his work on the physiology of isolated tissues.

Dr. White grew up in the Bitter-root valley near Corvallis, and received his undergraduate training at the university. Subsequently he served as an instructor in botany at the University of Washington in Seattle, the Ecole Normale at Valence, France, and obtained his doctorate at the John Hopkins University in 1928. He worked as special investigator for the United Fruit Company, assistant professor of botany at the University of Missouri, research fellow at the Boyce Thompson Institute in Yonkers, N. Y., and at the Pflanzen-physiologisches Institute of the University of Berlin, Germany, before going to the Rockefeller Institute.

He will begin his new duties at the Institute for Cancer Research on Dec. 1, 1945. He and his wife and son, Christopher John, reside at "Martian Hoax," Grovers Mill, N. J.

ing Cowboys.

In Sailors' last college year, when he sparked Wyoming to the mythical national championship, he scored 15-20 points a game in both season and tournament play and totaled over 500 points personally during the 1943 season.

A first lieutenant in the Marines, Sailors is stationed at Farragut awaiting discharge, and if Montana is lucky it will come before the Grizzlies tangle with Farragut, Jan. 4 and 5.

A note to Central Board. . . A little action on a project to raise funds for a scoreboard for Dornblaser stadium would be greatly appreciated.

The invitational tournament is being staged in the Missoula high school gym because MHS has a seating capacity of 2,300, nearly twice that which the university can accommodate. It seems sort of funny that a city high school has better gym facilities than a state university.

Of special interest to sports fans will be the boxing match being arranged by Joe Gibney for half-time entertainment during the tournament Friday night.

WAA In Action

J. Dineen - B. I. Smith

The fall sports schedule for WAA has come to an end. It has been a successful season. WAA has a paid membership of 229 women. Over 250 girls participated in sports, with over half receiving participation credits. This record places WAA as one of the top organizations on the campus for active participation of students. Most of the credit for the success of WAA this quarter goes to President Jo Ann Blair and Sponsor Mrs. Greenfield. Both have worked untiringly to keep WAA on top.

There has been some talk in WAA circles of making skiing an individual sport on the WAA roster of activities. Formerly it has been included in the interseasonal bracket making it necessary for girls to complete 15 hours in this activity before receiving a P.C. If skiing is designated as an individual sport such as horseshoes, only eight hours will be necessary for a participation credit. This plan will probably come up for discussion at the first WAA board meeting next quarter.

According to reports the WAA board is getting hepped up on the prospects of a new women's gym. According to the university budget submitted to the Post War Planning Commission, the women's gymnasium will be fourth on the list of new buildings. The construction would cost $300,000. However, evidently the new gym will not be built until after 1947 when the state legislature will meet to appropriate funds. We only hope that the woodpeckers who harass the women's gym each spring don't run out of wood before the new gym is built.

The Christmas SOS will be tomorrow (Wednesday) night in front of Main Hall. The traditional program of carols will be presented.

Grizzlies Take Beating At Billings

Wyoming Cowboys, Bobcats Inflict 61-35, 42-25 Defeats

Montana's venture into big-time basketball ended in disaster last Friday and Saturday in Billings. Games were dropped to the Wyoming Cowboys 61 to 35 and Montana State 42 to 25.

Coach Dahlberg, commenting on the Billings tourney, declared, "the team was outclassed and did not play as well as they could, or will play."

Montana State, Wyoming and Brigham Young, being members of the Rocky Mountain Conference, played under more favorable conditions than the Grizzlies who had to abide by Pacific Coast rules.

Rocky Mountain schools can use anyone who went to school during a war year and who is back working on a degree.

Grizzlies, Cowboys

Wyoming, national champions of 1943, let loose a blistering attack on the Grizzlies and left the floor on the long end of a 61-to-35 score.

All-American Komenich and Nostrand, 6-foot-8 inch giant, kept the Montanans in a daze with expert floorwork.

Clawson, with 19 points, set the individual tournament record in the game.

The Grizzlies met the State Bobcats in the Saturday consolation game. Boyd DeTonancour proved too hot to handle and the university lads were humbled 42 to 25.

DeTonancour hooped 11 points for the Bobcats and played superb defensive ball, holding Clawson to one basket.

The Grizzlies seemed unable to connect, missing countless setups. The game was never in doubt; Montana State led all the way.

Montana State, Utah State, Idaho, Montana Rivals In First Annual Event

Grizzlies to Battle Utah State Aggies, Bobcats Meet Undefeated Vandals; First Game Friday Night at 7:30

Intercollegiate basketball skyrockets to an early season crescendo this weekend when Montana's first annual invitational tournament gets underway at the Missoula County High School gymnasium Friday night.

Inter-conference strife and Grizzly-Bobcat rivalry feature the event. Two of the entrants, Montana and Idaho, represent the Pacific Coast Conference while Montana State and Utah State are standard bearers of the Rocky Mountain Conference.

In the tourney opener, 7:15 Friday night, Idaho's Vandals are pitted against the Montana State Bobcats. Grizzlies battle Utah State in the second Friday game.

Saturday night, the two Friday losers meet in a consolation game at 7:15 and the winners decide the tournament winner in the windup game.

Utah State

Utah State, who tripped the Grizzlies 44 to 13 in football this fall, has a powerful array of players composed mostly of veterans of overseas action and is coached by H. B. Lee, who is also just discharged after four years of Navy service. Last year, the Aggies beat Denver 80-53 and 72-53; Wyoming 44-36; Montana State 68 to 30; Idaho Southern 51 to 43; Weber College twice, and Fort Douglas.

seasoned by virtue of the Billings tournament and should go into the game ready to take the best the Farmers can dish out and give back even more. Montana's squad also includes mostly overseas veterans: Dave Lane, Air Corps, winner of the Air Medal and three Oak Leaf Clusters, and ETO ribbon with four battle stars; Dale Clawson wears the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with battle stars for the invasions of Marshalls and Marianas; Russ Giesy, Air Corps, winner of the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, Purple Heart and Bronze Star; Dick Stegner, Air Corps, won the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters and six battle stars on his European Theater ribbon; Ken Arthur, infantry, winner of four battle stars, Silver Star Medal and Asiatic-Pacific ribbon.

The Bobcats and Vandals will be closely matched. Both squads feature altitude in their players. Idaho has 6-foot-9-inch center Jack Phoenix up against State's high scoring 6-foot-2-inch center Boyd DeTonancour.

Elra Hunter and William Frazier of Spokane will officiate at the tournament.

Christmas parties for the enjoyment of everyone are in full swing at houses and dorms.

Last evening the Sigma Nu Mother's Club entertained actives and pledges.

Alpha Chis staged a party Sunday night for all actives and pledges, their parents and alums.

Much to the amazement of the lads who were out galivanting, a brightly lit Christmas tree greeted them on their arrival home to the SAE house. Some of the boys thought it was a great joke, but the suddenness of it all was almost too much for the gayer crowd.

South Hall

The annual Christmas dance and social marked the high point on the South Hall social calendar. The event took place on Friday evening, with about 55 couples attending. Numerous trees and pine boughs decorated the rooms, and colored lights added to the holiday spirit.

Hostess for the evening was the hall's house mother, Mrs. Blake, and chaperones included Miss Cleo Crow, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gulbrandsen and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Cogswell.

Birthday Dinner

Residents of South Hall whose birthdays occur between June and January will be honored at a dinner Wednesday evening.

Corbin Hall Parties

Corbin Hall will hold its birthday dinner Wednesday night with Dean Mary Elrod Ferguson and Miss Hovee as guests.

On the sixteenth of November the annual Christmas party will be staged with a candle parade and caroling.

North Hall Entertains

This evening North Hall will honor 58 girls whose birthdays come between July and December with a formal dinner. Mrs. James A. McCain and Mrs. R. H. Jesse will be guests.

The honor guests will sit at a long center table decorated with pine boughs; the others will be at smaller tables throughout the dining room.

Committee chairmen are Ann Albright, Carol Savarsy and Betty Lee Odom.

Sunday evening at 10:30 the Christmas party will be held and girls will exchange gifts.

Lois Rudeen, Missoula; Betty Durham, Missoula, and Lola Speelman, Miles City, were pledged to Kappa Epsilon recently.

Serenades Spread Yuletide Cheer

With the Christmas holidays just a little over a week away, sororities are giving their annual serenades. Decked out in mufflers and campus boots they're a picturesque sight treading through the snow and caroling to the other houses and dorms.

Delta Gammas serenaded Sunday evening and Alpha Chis last night. Next Sunday will find the Kappas going the rounds.

Tradition says that the girls carol every year and it really puts them in the yuletide spirit.

The Phi Sigma initiation banquet will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 12, at 6:30 in the Palace Coffee Shop.

Actives Uncover Sneak Party

SAE pledges pulled the traditional "sneak party" for the actives Friday night at Bedard's. The object of this party, exclusive to SAE fraternity, is to surprise the actives about the time and place it is to be held. Actives receive a phone call at 7 o'clock and are told it is "sneak night." They must have dates and find the party within two hours or they have to pay for it.

Fifteen minutes before the two hours were up, there came a knock upon the door and the mighty voice of an active boomed out, "Open up. You are discovered." After pledges recovered from the horrible shock that they "were stuck," chicken dinners were served and frivolity continued.

Inaugural Ball To Honor New MSU President

Students will honor President and Mrs. James McCain at a semi-formal ball Thursday evening at 8:30 in the Student Union Gold Room. The affair is in charge of the ASMSU social committee composed of Pete Small, Joan Blair, Lois Sanders and Mary Brome. There will be no charge for admission.

The Christmas spirit will be carried out in decorations with pine boughs and colored lights placed about the ballroom. Music will be furnished by Hal Herbig and his orchestra.

Wives of the deans of the schools who will serve punch in the Copper Room at 10:30 p.m. are Mrs. K. P. Davis, Mrs. C. H. Waldon, Mrs. J. B. Crowder, Mrs. J. L. C. Ford, Mrs. C. W. Leaphart, Mrs. R. J. Ely and Mrs. W. R. Ames, according to Dr. Andrew C. Cogswell, faculty chairman.

In the receiving line will be Jane

Jeffers, ASMSU president and her escort, President and Mrs. McCain, Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Jesse, Dean Mary Elrod Ferguson and Mary Brome and her escort.

University students and their guests are especially invited to attend the function, although faculty members who so desire may come.

Twelve-thirty permission will be extended to all women attending the ball.
